

MY PERSONAL LEADERSHIP PLAYBOOK

MY PERSONAL LEADERSHIP PLAYBOOK

You can't always control what you show up to, but you can control how you show up.

This exercise gives you an opportunity to pause and consider your values and how you want to show up as a leader—so you can lead more deliberately.

Leadership values

These values guide my decisions and behavior (particularly when times are hard):

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

Operating norms

These are the approaches that make me successful . . . (e.g. "I proactively seek out feedback so I can improve." or "I get to work early to tackle my hardest tasks ,first.")

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.
- 5.

My leadership legacy:

I want to be remembered for . . .

Challenges:

What sometimes gets in the way of me playing by my own rules . . .
